For Bedsores

Boil 4 oz. lard in water to take out the salt Skim it off and pour it on 6 oz. of Fuller's Earth. Stir it up very smoothly and add nearly half a tumbler of salad oil stirring it well in. Then put the ointment into pots if kept from the air it will keep a long time. Apply it to the skin on cotton wool or spread on lint or linen. The latter is best but not spread too thickly. If possible the great help to healing bedsores is to take the pressure off and if it is at the base of the back great comfort may be found in a small round pad made of Tow or Cottonwool with a hole about the size of the wound. Great cleanliness is necessary and where the skin is not broken bathing frequently with Brandy or Medicated spirits
